IVI recently attended Innovation Showcase 2015 in the Dublin Convention Centre. Organised by Enterprise Ireland the event brought all Technology & Research Centres together enabling local organisations to understand more about the many different research activities being undertaken. IVI was delighted with the response and interest in the IT-CMF framework and was happy to share details of the recently published IT-CMF The Body of Knowledge Book.

New EU Data Protection Legislation - Not Front of Mind

We're pretty active in the Data Privacy field having recently completed the Data Protection Critical

Capability, the latest addition to the IT-Capability Maturity Model. So we've been talking to quite a few people who are involved in this area, and we are surprised at how little concern there is about the new EU legislation "General Data Protection Regulation" due to be launched within weeks and which is a re-write of existing legislation, eliminating legislative differences between countries and increasing obligations and penalties in many areas.

So we added something to the DP-Checkpoint (our Capability Assessment for Data Privacy). The output report from the DP-Checkpoint will now analyse an organisation's readiness for the GDPR across 9 different headings. The information gleaned from the survey and from the follow-up interviews will be assessed against what we know about the GDPR requirements.

This will allow our client organisations (and ourselves) to understand better the impact of this impending legislation. Right now we have a number of our consultant members and partners who have been getting up to speed on the DP-Checkpoint programme and materials and will be offering this service to their clients starting in early January.

Learn more about the DP-Checkpoint by visiting our website.
