Join us for the Circularity in the Construction Industry Webinar today 29th February at 3pm (GMT).

The interest in circular business models has been accelerating as societal environmental concerns grow. The construction industry is the world's greatest consumer of raw materials, so developing sustainable practices has gotten much attention. In addition, there are goals to achieve, such as the European Green Deal. As a result, the construction sector is critical to meeting climate policy commitments, and it is especially necessary to incorporate prevention and reuse into construction activities. This webinar will bring together leaders and experts in circularity in construction to discuss the latest developments, innovations, and challenges in the field.

This project is funded under the EPA Research Programme 2021-2030. The EPA Research Programme is a Government of Ireland initiative funded by the Department of the Environment,
